

Author name: B. Lewis

Date of submission: Wednesday, 22 July 2015

Submission: I think it would be a grave mistake to amalgamate City of Sydney with any other council. It needs to stand alone on account of being very different to suburban councils; requiring complexities demanded by being the central area that so much of Sydney and its touring visitors pass into and out of on a daily basis, as well as the residential base that it is.