

Author name: B. WATSON-WILL

Date of submission: Wednesday, 30 July 2025

Your submission for this review:

We consumers are being abused by the open market providers since the politicians sold-off the retailing of electricity accounts and the sale of poles and wires. The so-called open market allowing competition is a fallacy with smart salespeople manipulating the sales and discounts which are so confusing and no real savings as costs eventually all end up the same. AEMO are completely useless in controlling the high prices of these energy providers and are the real reason they have more than doubled in NSW in recent years. Rooftop solar with solar batteries for residential homes and businesses should be fully-supported, for all who want them, by all politicians without penalties being levelled against supplies back to the grid, along with the continuation of all-electric homes and businesses, with all the necessary subsidies. IPARTs pitiful 5-7 solar feed-in tariffs recommendations back to the grid are an example of IPARTs powers as most energy providers completely ignore these and offer their own tariff prices as witnessed by our own household. Whatever we put in our submissions IPART will not be able to influence or make successful recommendations to the open market for electricity and gas rising costs which have more than doubled over recent years. We households and small businesses are paying full costs of electricity and gas subsidising big businesses receiving discounts on their usage, all in the name of productivity and/or exports.