Submission: I am strongly opposed to the City of Sydney Council being required to amalgamate with any other council. The City of Sydney Council is an extremely effective council meeting the needs of the unique population that it serves. It is not in the same situation as most councils, having the largest population, the most densely populated area in Australia, the biggest concentration of businesses, the most tourists. It is an extremely progressive council that communicates well with its constituents.

Please do not destroy or limit a council that is working well as it is. "If is ain't broke, don't fix it" , as the old saying goes.
