

Author name: G. Northausen

Date of submission: 24 July 2015

Submission: The City of Sydney is financially sound it is not in debt and is without any hint of corruption. It already services a large population and is reasonably responsive to the needs of residents and ratepayers. The proposed mega council would have the population of Tasmania and I believe would be far less open and transparent. Prone to corruption with developer deals and the susposed economies of scale are a mith.