I personally feel with the large profits Sydney Water has been making that this proposal is offensive to every citizen. At a time when costs keep increasing, when luxuries are being cut back totally, when there are many losing homes and finding no place to go, how dare Sydney water suggest an increase that will make a basic human right become more unaffordable! We already cut back to save on excess usage. There has been so much rain that a few times over the last years the threat of dams overflowing or water being released has been an issue. We don't have a water shortage - why do you want us to be paying so much more? Life is too expensive as it is. Stop being greedy.
