

Author name: J. Lewis

Date of submission: 13 July 2015

Submission: The current City of Sydney council is managed by a group of people who know and understand the community that it serves. An amalgamation would destabilise the current direction of City of Sydney council. There is no evidence that an amalgamation would benefit the community, in fact the cost of the change alone should prevent any consideration of a change.