Subject: Anti the Amalgamation proposal

To whom it may concern:

I am absolutely against the proposed amalgamation of the many city councils to create the "mega council". Each council currently has the capacity to manage & create programs, opportunities and partnerships fit for each council, which then ensures that the local residents needs are catered for. This is what the role of the local council/ electorate is. I do not believe that the needs will be catered for if the area of this will be increased so dramatically.

My area of City of Sydney is a perfect representation of me as an individual - it has focus on sustainability, the environment, local community and parks, and bicycle lanes. I continue to vote for Clover Moore, in this electorate, as she continues to stand for what I want out of my local area. She continues to look to the future of what City of Sydney can be - and what makes the City of Sydney electorate such a wonderful place to live. It is also what makes this part of the city on par with the rest of the world's major cities - beautiful park lands, free community events, sustainable lifestyles, and safe alternate transport methods.

I do not believe this amalgamation is best for anyone in any of these areas, and believe, in all honesty, that this amalgamation is part of the ongoing continued efforts to oust Clover Moore. So with all due respect, if the people of the electorate want Clover Moore to be gone, then democracy will show this. Until such time, I would think that the NSW Government has better things to do with it's time, the trust of it's electorate that voted it in, that it will focus on other parts of government, rather than trying to fix what is not broken.

Kind regards
