

Author name: L. Wren

Date of submission: Wednesday, 21 May 2014

Submission: As a self funded retiree with terminal cancer, I am in fear of being unable to afford heating this winter. Medication to treat my cancer costs $1850 each three weeks for which of course there is absolutely no benefit reimbursement. I am at a loss to understand why a so called independent pricing and regulatory tribunal so quickly acquiesce to the big corporations without considering the impact these decisions have
On consumers. You really need to rethink your decisions.