Submission: Hi,

The City of Sydney will need more focus on its localities and parts rather than looking at them in general! You cannot treat suburbs with different needs and ethnicities with the same mindset. Councils are built and councilors are elected by the local people who have the actual need and understand their local area better. Keep the City of Sydney council as it was. Adjusting the councils' boundaries might be necessary for some areas and suburbs but not putting them all in a mega-council. Thank you.
