I do not agree with the proposal about the creation of a Mega-council by including 4 additional council areas. The new council area will be too large and will not guarantee cost reductions/benefits.

I want to continue the City of Sydney as it is now because:

- Services are currently efficient.
- The City of Sydney has been responsive and accountable by creating a number of improvements in different aspects.
- The City of Sydney effectively listens to residents.

The City of Sydney has the proper responsibility /authority in accordance with the current area size/#people.

I don't welcome this type of change because it removes control from the local residents. City of Sydney council listens to his residents. In a mega council this direct input will disappear. Also different council residents have different interests and expectation for their areas to develop.
