Is this a joke? With interest rates , food cost, electricity prices , medical help fees rising (due to doctors choosing not to bulk bill).with this proposed increase Is Sydney water trying to cover above costs for their employees? Honestly enough is enough. As an example the average wage increases around 2-3% per year, so how are we to catch up to 50% in five years? To add to this we really have enough water even to much. So, I dont agree with proposed increase of water costs. Cheers
