All life is dependant on water, without water we all die. Water is not a profit making enterprise - it is a basic necessity of life. Any proposal that is even considering making a profit from a essential item for life on earth is unacceptable. If you want to make profit then charge business for the use of water they use to make profits from for their business, non business consumers should not be charged excessively high prices so that a CEO, and Senior Management of Sydney Water can justify their very generous salary packages and performance bonuses. Consumers have had enough of paying for corporate greed.
