In this day where the cost of living is already at a high level any increase to bills will create a struggle for all families. 18% is far too high and then to add a further 7% on top for what is a necessary service is ridiculous. The services to my property have not changed or improved to allow any increase justification other than this looking like a way to make more money without any improvements or gains to the owners or renters of the properties. I would be opposing this notion and like to think the cost of living added to families and individuals alone would put high unnecessary stress on people who could end up living on the streets or worse sacrificing food to pay for utilities.
