

Author name: P. Fry

Date of submission: Tuesday, 15 March 2022

Your submission for this review:

Telling us we have to fund improvements to the water supply and wastewater systems after 50 years of neglect, poor management and under investment is shocking. Where has the 50 years of previous payments gone to? The economy has just suffered a pandemic, fuel prices are at a record high and the banks are doubling or tripling mortgage interest payments. Many of us have seen our incomes shrink during the pandemic, the economy is teetering on the brink of an inflationary period, to this, you want to add paying off 50 years of short falls of spending on the water systems. It is wrong. If it is urgent repairs, the Federal government should fund it. Not hard pressed working Australians.