

Sent: Friday, 20 March 2015 10:08 AM

Subject: Newcastle rate rise

Sometimes the general public get taken for mugs. To try & force a 49.6% rate rise using data gathered from 2011 is one of those times.

The economy of Australia supposedly mirrors women's hemlines. Now not being a woman & not knowing where the current fashion has hemlines, I am quite sure that if hemlines were raised 46.9% that there would be quite a few women charged with Obsenity. So how can Newcastle Council get away with being OBESCE in regards to lifting rates by such a rude amount.

Yours Sincerely

Robert McKay Gray