Submission: The state government is unable to do urban design, as it is not an urban entity. SHFA, BDA, etc. however, councils are too small to see the bigger picture of Greater Sydney.

I suggest rather than amalgamating councils you setup a Metro Sydney Council over the top of them like London, or if not that then go even further in amalgamating all the Councils into Boroughs like New York.

Current suggested Amalgamation sizes seem to fall in nowhere land, not local enough nor metro enough.
