

Hello,

I understand IPART is currently reviewing public transport.

I would like to comment on 2 aspects which need review:

RAIL:

It is outrageous that we cannot purchase a non same day travel return ticket. If you travel forward one day and return the next day or later you in effect pay nearly double fare. Single tickets are near the cost of return tickets. This is discriminatory and highly unfair. In Sydney we need to be able to purchase a non same day return ticket and at the same price as a return same day ticket.

BUSES:

A ticket transfer system needs to be introduced to save having to purchase 2 sets of tickets. This system operates in Canberra where you can transfer to another service on a through ticket within 2 hours. Unfortunately, Canberra is divided into zones and transfers are only within zones - this aspect needs improvement.

Thankyou,
