

CAMDEN COUNCIL SPECIAL RATE VARIATION APPROVED

10.00am, Tuesday 11 June 2013

The Independent Pricing and Regulatory Tribunal (IPART) has approved Camden Council's application to increase its general income by more than the rate peg amount of 3.4% to help fund its $6 million Community Infrastructure Renewal Program over the next 6 years.

The approved increase of 1.1% above the rate peg will replace an existing special variation for 4.5% above the rate peg for similar purposes that will end on 30 June 2013. The approved special variation will generate around $0.4m in additional revenue in 2013/14, and $2.3m over 6 years.

IPART Chairman Dr Peter Boxall said the council's application was assessed against the NSW Government's published criteria.

"After assessing the application, IPART has decided to approve the special variation as requested by the council," Dr Boxall said.

Through the rate peg and special variation process, IPART determines the increases to councils' general income. Councils decide how to allocate the increase among all their different ratepayer categories, such as residential, business and farmland.

"Based on Camden Council's application, we estimate that on average, rates will increase in 2013/14 by less than the 3.4% rate peg increase available to all councils. The average residential rate will increase by $5."

Dr Boxall said special variations are designed to give councils the flexibility to generate additional income above the rate peg to meet their specific needs, with an independent assessment process to determine if the increase is realistic, justifiable and affordable.

"Camden Council was able to meet the criteria for approval of the special variation and demonstrated a clear need for the additional revenue, that it had appropriately engaged the community about the proposed rate increases, and that it is taking steps to improve productivity and contain costs," he said.

"We also considered Camden Council's long term financial plan and whether the impact on affected ratepayers is reasonable."

In approving the council's application, IPART has imposed conditions requiring that the additional income is used for the purposes outlined in the application, and that the council reports to the community in its Annual Report each year until 2019 on the outcomes achieved.

Camden Council's application is one of 23 applications for special variations IPART received from NSW's 152 councils this year. IPART also received an application from Gundagai Shire Council to increase a minimum rate. Twenty-one applications were approved in full and 3 applications were partially approved.
