I would like to thank you for supporting a fair price for consumer/producers of electricity. The current billing agencies argue they have delivery costs to include in their pricing yet they still charge a daily access fee which should be representative of this cost(I expect they also have a profit margin built in). This indicates that those consuming and/or producing are covering the cost of accessing the grid. Therefore the KWh charge should be equal for all contributors. If the wholesale price is just set then providers don't get a fair price. We are not requesting spot pricing, although PV supply is usually available during peak periods when spot pricing is high. The price should be comparative to that paid to other suppliers. Renewables are going to contribute to the majority of future supply and we should be rewarded as future thinking, environmental supporters.
