Submission: As a solar user I considered the installation was good for the environment and may help take pressure off a failing system. With the closure of a power station hanging over our head the government should be grateful to those who installed solar instead we have been continually attacked from many quarters attempting to cut back our $ returns, charge us to pump energy to grid. We are not peppers and as a massive group a significant number of voters. We have done the right thing through installing solar give us recognition and appreciation. We should be entitled to a better return and not attacked by those seeking to do whatever they can to reduce our entitlements
