Submission: The policy for reduced prices when you reduce your usage is great for people who have a meter for each household however a very large proportion of properties have a single meter for multiple households and it doesn't matter how much you reduce your water usage if your unit neighbours are water wasters you can't see any benefits. The variable pricing policy should only apply where one household is billed for a meter. Strata's etc where a meter reading is split over multiple households need a flat rate applied
