

Author name: Anonymous

Date of submission: Saturday, 24 February 2018

Submission: Not happy the average cost of a carton of my beer has gone up $6 compared to a potential refund of $2.40 then add the cost of driving 21km each way as I live in country NSW and then most of the time the machine is full awaiting to be emptied so you take the punt and hang around or go back home and put them in the yellow bin because you cant store the empty containers in your flat or house .Stung again by the powers too be (shaking my head )