SOLAR FEED-IN TARIFFS 2017/18

As a rooftop solar panels owner, I seriously concerned by the small amount of money that I and other solar owners receive from the power companies by way of the Feed In Tariff. Those of us that have solar panels deserve a fair price from the companies that sell our produced power for many times the amount they pay us. They are profiteering off our desire to reduce the amount of money that we have previously had to pay for electricity.

Every time that there is an increase in the wholesale price of electricity, we should see the same increase in the amount we receive for our unused power. In this same vein, we should also see the cancellation of the benchmark range that applies to the feed-in-tariff, and it be fully regulated so that all solar owners receive payment commensurate with the full benefits of solar, including, but not limited to the environment, reduction in global warming caused by greenhouse gas emissions from coal fired power stations, and the use of other coal products.
