Submission: I am part owner of a boarding house in Randwick, Sydney and provide much needed low cost rental accommodation in Sydney. The building is all electric and is provided as included in the tariffs to residents as a requirement of the State Government for registered boarding houses (NSW Department of Revenue). The energy cost is a significant component of the overheads and Origin Energy has provided a 25% discount based on multiple accounts, direct debit etc. The discounts are provided only when you ask the energy organization for the latest deal. It is very difficult to compare energy costs between providers and how their costs are ordered so it would be very beneficial if a comparison chart could be published by an independent organization. To be notified when discounts are offered would be appreciated. Also if further discounts could be provided for deserving organizations that provide social benefits for low cost rental accommodation in Sydney. The costs of energy from competitive providers are difficult to understand as they increase dramatically over such a short period of time even with discounts in order to maintain low rents in Sydney.
