7 Years ago the government encouraged how owners to invest into power generation so the government did not have to. Whilst there was a generous rebate to do so, the cost at the time was also over the top compared to o/s suppliers, but we did.

After encouraging many to do so, once again the government has let us down. How can we keep trusting government hollow promises.

No the tariffs are finished, electricity suppliers pay there prime supplier a lot more than what they pay the individual suppliers like our selves.

Yes we should be allowed to use our own power first & we should receive the same as the wholesaler for the rest .

That is only fair as its the government that encouraged us to invest our money to produce power & lesson the burden on the grid.

Why should we pay the high daily connect fee when the power company pays half that price????

We should pay the wholesale price exspecialy as the line has well & truly been paid for by us.
