Submission: This is a wonderful starting point, but much more needs to be done. 1. The 10c deposit is set at far too low a level. Germany has a 90% recovery rate for containers and its deposit is set at 40c. 2. There are far too few automated recycling centres and the rollout has been far too slow. In my area I have had to drive several kilometres to a facility which has queues 3. The facilities are not properly managed. Often the machines are full and awaiting collection, which does not happen frequently enough.
