

Author name: F. Ross

Date of submission: Monday, 7 May 2018

Submission: It's time the government accepted fossil fuels will run out one day and are we prepared? Not while we keep insisting on using coal! People who installed solar are doing their bit to help ease the demand on power, how about giving us a decent return on our solar contribution? At the present the return is ridiculous, and power providers are trying to screw it down even further. We should be getting at least half of what it is sold for.