

Author name: J. Marley

Date of submission: Friday, 4 May 2018

Submission: As more consumers (both commercial & domestic) become renewable energy producers making clean power available for the energy retailers to sell on, we are contributing to the environment by reducing the need for coal fired base load power. This is an important contribution during this transition from a carbon dependent economy to a more sustainable renewable energy powered society. We must not be penalized for these actions by decreasing feed-in tariff rates.