

Author name: M. OShaughnes

Date of submission: Tuesday, 1 May 2018

Submission: I see no reason to amend the solar feed in tariff. Why should people who have invested in solar be continually affected by government fiddling with the system. The electricity supply price has increased exponentially because of the privatisation policies of various governments. The profits are privatised and the consumers have to carry the loses. What is the point of an IPART determination when the electricity retailerts are not forced to follow it. It just gives them an excuse to reduce their feed in tariff. Insufficient consideration is given to the enviromental benefits of solar.