Just had panels fitted and luckily get 12c feed in through my locally owned community power supplier. However, I am concerned at how few other houses in my vicinity have solar panels. This needs to be incentivised by govt to help the move away from fossil fuels. The same applies to battery systems which I plan to instal when I can afford it. Will also be moving over to electric vehicles asap but again disappointed by the lack of govt incentive or encouragement for this industry compared with countries like Norway.
