Submission: I have a solar system for 7 years and another one for about a year. I have done this because I believe that solar energy is good for me, my children, for the community and ultimately the world. Solar and other non-carbon sources of energy are the future and it is about time my government believes this and promotes renewables. Feed in tariff is an incentive, it is not a handout as it saves health dollars for the government with less pollution. Also it makes sense for a future of carbonless energy sources. The feed-in-tariff is an arbitrary figure - it should be adequate to influence people to go for solar .if this is kept as a mere pittance, I will go off the grid .
