

SUBMISSION TO IPART REVIEW
SOLAR FEED-IN TARIFFS 2017/18

Friday, 19 May 2017
11:18:42 AM

I note with interest recent achievements in Germany regarding development and broad acceptance of renewables. In NSW, solar panelists were vilified in the media and blamed for escalating electricity costs. This matter needs to be redressed and a fair price paid for electricity generated by households and sold too cheaply back to the power grid, which is then on-sold as inflated prices. It's scandalous. Things will eventually change and solar panelists will be seen as pioneers. batteries are a good idea, but I'd rather be sharing clean energy than hogging it. This is the only ethical way forward: a fair price for domestic, solar-generated electricity.

Shaun Davies

Postcode: 2044