Dear IPART

I put on solar panels around a decade ago when they were more expensive because I thought it crucial to take personal action to diminish the disastrous consequences of climate change. Just when I have almost got my initial layout back, the Power companies decided to pay me on a few cents pre kilowatthr that they then sold back to me for several times that amount. (And my company wanted to charge me for this privilege!). I changed companies on principle but still am being ripped off. Please make it compulsory that power companies pay a fair price for clean electricity.
