

Author name: T. Cashmore

Date of submission: Monday, 25 June 2018

Submission: Good morning michelle – I will tell you what you have heard many times since the debacle of changing the metering - ----- it should never have been done – I see acumen has already made their money and opted to sell out – This has disrupted the whole network – and will I am sure regretted for years to come - -I have been an asp for 18 years – and I cannot find any one that is looking for meter installers, why????????? Because like acumen they have over 400 level 2 on there books – and have no room for any other , I can find the work easily but as I cannot get a meter – I am out of work, and may I say that the people you have installing the meters – 80% of them have no idea what they are doing , Just a bad move dear, but no sour grapes – I can survive without scraping the ground to the meter suppliers. U have a lovely day dear, kind regards tom cashmore