

I came across the proposed fare structures thanks to the Sydney Morning Herald.

Holsworthy (train)	$38.56	$57.00	48%	$60.60	6%	$64.30
-----------------------	---------	---------	-----	---------	----	---------

I live in Holsworthy and the pricing increase is a jump of approximately $20. At the moment I spend $10 on lunch a week and am trying to save up to buy a house in Sydney, this increase is a unbearable cost to someone like me.

Further this is ridiculous considering that the trains run full, they are often dirty and at the slightest hint of rain there are signal failures. The fact that you can justify a $20 for substandard service is beyond insane. The authors of this pricing structure should resign. In fact if rthe tribunal was folded up it would most likely lead to saving equal or greater than this price increase.

Further to this I have been catching the trains for over 15 years, and promises of improved services for higher fares have been nothing more than lies.

Kind Regards,
