

Author name: Anonymous

Date of submission: Saturday, 14 June 2014

Submission: I made a decision 14 years ago to care for my brain injured husband at home following his MVA. He became a "protected person" Ever since, every year I have been preparing arduous, comprehensive yearly accounts for NSWTAG which take hours and hours of work from me. This despite the fact he only earns a pension, I work full time to support both of us and he has no other assets. We live as husband and wife and share everything just as we did prior to his accident.

For all the work that goes in to doing these ridiculous and unnecessary reports I then have to pay NSWTAG a fee every year. There should be a sub category for people who are in our situation to not have to file any reports, saving TAG and me considerable time.

Any increase in the $100 fee I pay for doing all this work would be outrageous.