

Author name: Anonymous

Date of submission: Monday, 1 February 2016

Submission: The public transport situation in my area - my nearest bus stop - has not changed on the last 15 years. Services still only come every half hour at best (even in peak hour). Some argue you could make the 15 minute walk to the train station - but if you are less able bodied - this doesn't actually help. I live in what is known as the inner west of Sydney. I would support an increase in price if it also delivered more frequency to all services - but it doesn't. No new services or increase in frequency of services to my area in 15 years. You should be ashamed to even suggest a price increase