Submission: My partner and I are seniors card holders and are not eligible for the pension although we are living on a very modest income. Living in the Blue Mountains requires many journeys to and from the city eg for medical appointments. The current Senior's fare makes it possible to travel easily but a rise to $9.00 would make it almost impossible. The different treatment for pensioners and self-funded retirees who are on similar incomes is deeply unfair already on so many fronts, considering that the self-funded group cost the taxpayers nothing having saved for their own retirement then being hit by huge drops in income due to global financial movements. It will be made much worse by increasing fares for seniors.
