Submission: The fee of public transport should be keep same or even lower so the people will choose to use public transport over private cars, which maximises the public utility, protects the environment and reduces the massive traffic congestion. It could be costly to run and maintain the public transport, however there is still great potential to make profit in other way rather than just simply increase the fee, such as commercial advertisements inside and outside and carriages, which is quite common in other large and modern cities. People won't mind a few ads if they can help to keep the public transport affordable.
