Submission: I believe OPAL fare is very fair and very good system, Sydney waited more than a decade for having an electronic system which was implemented about a year ago. Not only the system introduced new excellent fair system also eliminate log queues to buy tickets on Monday morning. The gov also get their fair share of interest on OPAL top-up. Which in turns encourages to use public transport which takes the cars out of the road and help the environment. I hope the government do not change the fair system.

According to then Transport Minster Hon Gladys Berejiklian "I want people to beat the system," Gladys Berejiklian said. "I want people to find the savings because they are there to be had," she said. <http://tinyurl.com/onzhpr4>
