Submission: As a Senior who is actively involved with groups of Seniors involved in The University of the Third Age, volunteer guiding visual arts tours, CHA the gym for healthy ageing, And various discussion groups I enjoy and observe the diverse members of all these groups. Many of them are pensioners. All of them agree that the availability of all forms of travel at a reasonable cost keeps them active, healthy, stimulated and engaged. If prohibitive cost kept them home illness and costs to our health system would increase.
