Submission: I feel it is unfair that the changes will take away the 8 paid journeys per week, increasing it to the 10 most expensive. While I do understand and agree that it needs to change so that people who have been exploiting it - by taking multiple short, cheap journeys - cannot continue to take advantage of it, this negatively impacts travellers such as myself whose 8 journeys are the maximum distance. I think a better move might be to charge for the 8 most expensive; this is a compromise between the current and suggested system.
