

Author name: Anonymous

Date of submission: Thursday, 4 February 2016

Submission: I thought the new fares would be based on where I live - as the crow flies.

I do not agree with the proposed increase to transport fares. I just paid an increase when the opal card was introduced. At the moment I pay the maximum of $60 per week to travel to central from Manly by ferry and train.

Under the proposed changes I will now pay $63.60.

I would be happy if people who travel five days per week, indicating that they work full time are not penalised for this. In the past we could travel for one day free, giving an incentive to work five days. Consideration should be given to people working five days, and the maximum for five days travel made $60 or LOWER.

Maybe I should catch the fast ferry along with a whole lot of other people and then you would have no one to subsidise the iconic manly ferry.