Submission: i do not agree or support with the review and update of the public transport fares for Sydney. I only got onto the opal card after the promise from the transport minister promising us free travelling after 8 trips (regardless on how short the trip or mode of transport is). This has allow me to save some money for a tight budget that we are on since me and my husband has not been receiving any pay raise for the last few years.

The current opal card does not even work at best of time, I fail to understand how it will work to support this complicate fares structure.

Transport minister, please live up to your promise and trash this scheme of fares reviews and updates for Sydney
