

Author name: Anonymous

Date of submission: Friday, 5 February 2016

Submission: such a significant increase is very likely to mean people will either take their cars and clog up our roads more, or more likely in the case of our seniors, to stay at home and not enjoy the outings they currently do. This can eventually impact our health system.

An increase is definitely due, but not such a major one. It would definitely mean I would think twice before travelling as much as I do now.