Submission: I commute daily to the city from Beverly Hills for work Monday to Friday. Before Opal I used to buy an annual ticket. Whilst the current fare structure costs me more, I am happy with it since it also provides more flexibility. However without the "free trip Friday" it would cost considerably more - which is a broken promise from when the card was introduced. I believe the 8 trip cap should be maintained, but would be happy for this to be the 8 longest trips of the week, rather than the first 8. To me this would close the loophole, without punishing the vast majority of users who do not try to rot the system.
