

Author name: J. McDonnell

Date of submission: Monday, 11 January 2016

Submission: This draft ruling is unfair for the normal rail commuter, If you only make 10 peak trips a week, you will in effect have to pay for those extra 2 trips under this proposal. Even under the old paper ticket weekly you in effect got the last 2 trips free if you only did 10 peak trips a week. Why should people have to pay for those extra 2 trips when they historically never had to. A paper weekly was the price of about 8 peak trips under the opal system.