

Author name: J. Harding

Date of submission: Wednesday, 11 July 2012

Submission: Hunter water should accept full responsibility & costs for sewer connections to the point of attachment at the property boundary, not the sewer main as this has recently changed without notification to owners. If you have a sewer leak at the main & it is on another person's property Hunter Water should be responsible to repair the leak. Hunter Water customer's responsibility should end at the edge of their property. This is a cost shifting exercise by Hunter Water. Hunter Water are best equipped to manage health issues with leaking sewer connections or have a standard fixed charge to repair all leaks.