

Author name: M. Richmond

Date of submission: Thursday, 4 February 2016

Submission: Good: We are pleased that the cost of single Opal fares is mostly dropping. However, Opal fares still cost much more than a TravelTen.

Bad: People who use public transport a lot will be paying much more, in some cases up to $300 a year, according to newspaper reports. This is a disincentive and will encourage more people to use cars.

Bad: Seniors will pay much more for their transport. Many of them are pensioners, so this will restrict their ability to get around.

Thanks,

Mary Richmond and Greg Smith (same address, same email)