

My submission supports solar producers who send grid fed solar power into the grid should receive a minimum Kw credit equal to the value that retailers who on sell to household and consumers. That is 1 for 1 value. Going green using solar to help our planet should be the prime aim that Governments and decision makers such as IPART (government controlled) should be focusing on, not grobbling to the electricity providers